

HLFP 2025 Side Event

Key Takeaways

Interministerial coordination for achieving the SDGs

23 July 2025, New York

Official Side Event within the framework of the High-Level
Political Forum on Sustainable Development (HLPF)

Co-Organisers

wpn2030, SDSN Germany, German Institute of Development and Sustainability (IDOS) and the Ministry of the Environment of the Czech Republic

wissenschaftsplattform
nachhaltigkeit
2030

Ministry of the Environment
of the Czech Republic

HLFP 2025 Side Event

1

Today's complex, interconnected challenges demand coherent policies that integrate social, environmental, and economic sustainability. As shown by experiences from Czechia, Germany, Malta, and the Philippines, inclusive and collaborative decision-making across public sectors and stakeholder groups is essential.

HLFP 2025 Side Event

2

Interministerial coordination remains challenging due to shifting personnel and policy priorities driven by political and electoral cycles. It requires ongoing commitment, advocacy, and support from both, motivated public servants and political leaders.

HLFP 2025 Side Event

3

Beyond formalised structures for interministerial coordination, trust and effective communication among ministries depends on personal connections, informal exchanges, and small steering groups.

HLFP 2025 Side Event

4

Successful coordination requires stakeholder inclusion and the active involvement of regional governments and municipalities at multiple levels.

